“The Walk for Hunger funds all of our food costs. I cannot imagine how this pantry would stay open without this funding.”

— James 2:15 Kitchen in Clinton

Emergency food programs include community pantries, soup kitchens, food banks, food salvage programs, and mobile pantry programs that distribute food to people in need. The programs on this list are those supported in 2005 – 2006. They provided 42 million meals to people in need.

Project Bread strives to be as accurate as possible in listing our supporters. We appreciate your help in correcting any errors or omissions.

“Today more than ever, hunger affects all parts of our society — individuals, businesses and government. Left unchecked, hunger threatens our health, our productivity and our future. On a daily basis, Project Bread, through its dedicated staff, supporters and partners, spearheads the fight to end hunger in Massachusetts by helping people to better understand hunger and its causes, and by working to find not just temporary fixes, but meaningful and lasting solutions.”

"We became involved with this project as a dual effort — to connect our employees to a community relations event that could include their family members, while putting them in touch with a very worthwhile philanthropic need: feeding the hungry. A lot of people still assume that hunger in America isn't a problem — but it is. The Walk for Hunger allows people to feel good about the company's sponsorship while feeling proud of its affiliation as a lead supporter of the event. Our vision has been to align our company name with a visible statewide event that would bring pride, community awareness, and appreciation for diversity and a broader community spirit within our own Mansfield location. The Walk for Hunger is for me, personally, a very gratifying event."

"This was my fifth consecutive Walk for Hunger, but my first time leading a team for State Street. Project Bread is a fantastic organization, and this year's Walk raised $3.2 million to help hungry people here in Massachusetts. It felt so good to be out with colleagues, friends, and 43,000 other caring citizens, making a positive impact on our community! It's great to work for a company that encourages its employees to get involved. Thanks to all who supported us!"

"KISS 108 considers The Walk for Hunger a signature event not only for the station, but for the City of Boston as well. Each year that goes by, we never forget the importance of helping others and are able to reflect on what an incredible job Project Bread does with the Walk. We are truly humbled and appreciate being a media sponsor for such a tremendous event."

"Project Bread's Walk for Hunger is a Boston tradition that Brigham's Ice Cream is proud to support. By being able to treat the Walkers and participants at the finish line, this event has been a rewarding experience for Brigham's employees as well. Our Walk team was able to experience the unity shared by all participants, and our employees who handed out ice cream at the finish line witnessed the Walkers' hugs, shouts of joy, and expressions of happiness and accomplishment. Brigham's is proud to support the community that has long supported us and we look forward to the Walk in 2007!"

“Participating in The Walk for Hunger really fits Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts from a mission standpoint. It’s important to address the basic need of hunger because it has such a direct tie to health and well-being. Those who are most at risk are children and seniors: one is our future and the other is our heritage, and we should be supporting both.”

“I really enjoy seeing the long line of other Walkers ahead and behind — like crossing over the Mass. Ave. Bridge is just spectacular with Walkers filling Memorial Drive across the way.”

— Richard Stout, Heart & Sole Walker, Ipswich

Raised more than $1.2 million in total

"Each year, Project Bread's Walk for Hunger means more to me. Since I started Walking in 1988, it's become a part of my life and a way to give back to those less fortunate. It's also become a tradition for our state — a tradition rooted in the innate qualities of human nature — compassion, kindness, and concern. It thrills me to be part of something this big! It doesn't matter what religion, ethnicity, age, or gender you are — what matters is that we all do our part to end hunger in Massachusetts."

— Gabriel Yepes, Heart & Sole Walker, Brighton, who has participated in The Walk for Hunger for 18 years and has raised an amazing $295,000 through the generous donations of staff and members of The University Club of Boston

Heart & Sole Walkers are a group of dedicated participants who raise a minimum of $500 for each Walk. In 2006, Heart & Sole Walkers raised more than $1.2 million to relieve and eliminate hunger in Massachusetts. Last year, their unflagging commitment helped Project Bread-funded agencies provide 42 million meals to people in need.

"I always felt that relieving hunger is one of the most important things I could help do. I remember seeing people doing The Walk for Hunger, and it looked like so much fun — I wanted to be a part of it!"

— Anne Aisenberg, Heart & Sole Walker, Newton

Heart & Sole Walkers are a group of dedicated participants who raise a minimum of $500 for each Walk. In 2006, Heart & Sole Walkers raised more than $1.2 million to relieve and eliminate hunger in Massachusetts. Last year, their unflagging commitment helped Project Bread-funded agencies provide 42 million meals to people in need.

"Each year I walk in The Walk for Hunger with my friends, but the past few years I've walked with my girlfriend and we made a special pact — we vowed to walk every year, for as long as we can!"

— Anthony Rambaud, Heart & Sole Walker,
Cambridge

Heart & Sole Walkers are a group of dedicated participants who raise a minimum of $500 for each Walk. In 2006, Heart & Sole Walkers raised more than $1.2 million to relieve and eliminate hunger in Massachusetts. Last year, their unflagging commitment helped Project Bread-funded agencies provide 42 million meals to people in need.

Project Bread strives to be as accurate as possible in listing our supporters. We appreciate your help in correcting any errors or omissions.

2006 Walk for Hunger

We gratefully acknowledge 1,400 Heart & Sole Walkers who rallied the support of their friends, neighbors, and coworkers to raise more than $1.2 million to feed the hungry.

"The mission of Project Bread is extremely important to me, and the organization's impact to date is astonishing. But what I get really excited about are the people in the organization, those affiliated with it and especially our Walkers. They are committed to today's goals with the vision of a hunger-free state and have aspirations to more broadly influence public policy throughout the country with our work."

— Marla M. Capozzi, consultant, McKinsey & Company, shown with daughter Milena, and fellow board member, Eric Rimm, associate professor of epidemiology and nutrition, Harvard School of Public Health
